Let's break it down.

Real Talk: What Happened to Jay?

Jay tried to buy Bitcoin on Coinbase. Everything looked good , funds in his bank, card linked, but boom —

 “Coinbase payment failed”

He tried again. Same thing. No clue why.

Sound familiar? Let's break it down.

Jay's Payment Failed. Here's What He Found:

- His bank silently blocked the transaction – because it flagged Coinbase as a risky vendor.
 - His account wasn't fully verified, which caused a block on higher-value buys.
 - He had daily limits he didn't even know about.

What Did Jay Do Next?

Jay called Coinbase support directly at +1-805-229-1247. The rep checked his account, walked him through verification, and told him to call his bank to whitelist Coinbase.

Problem solved. Payment went through in minutes.

Lesson? You're Not Alone.

If Coinbase says payment failed, it's usually due to +1-805-229-1247:

- Card or bank declined the charge
 - Account limits reached
 - Unverified ID or payment method
 - Temporary system errors
